You lucky few get the privilege to unwind with Krampus and his krew as they come to FrostBurn. Warm Toddy and great tunes. Come on thru and say hi to virgin FrostBurners. But be careful, Krampus is lurking in the shadows and may just have to paddle you for being so very good at being so very bad.

Once Upon a Frostmas

TCO: Luna

Once Upon A Frostmas, there was a theme camp. It featured a coat-filled Narnia wardrobe cuddle pile, a Dickens village not-square with mulled wine, a festive role playing game and continual Frostmas cheer, along with Kamp Krampus' devilish delights and dance parties. Perhaps there was caroling? Naughty storytime and cheese? A pillow fight under the Mistelfoe? That Frostmas was at Frostburn 2020, and forever in your heart.

Dueling “Cat”apults

Artist: Grafton

Find the large Cats out on the tundra. Within their cute facades is a catapult. Piled next to these “Cat”apults are over-sized light up cat toys. You can decide whether you want to load the “Cat”apult with these light up balls or a snowball of your own making. Next aim for the apposing “Cat”apult. Load... Pull back... Release... and Watch it Fly!! Did you hit your intended target? Adjust and aim the “Cat”apult, reload, and try again. Battle across the tundra with your friends or frienemies!

Firetower of Babel

Artist: Phil

The object stands about 8 feet tall and is inscribed with words in all manner of languages; some you recognize, some you don't. The object is warm. The words are illuminated by fire from within. Maybe some other people can say what is written here. It's cold out there, but the object is not cold, and we can gather around it and warm our hands and ponder the things that make all cultures different, and those that make them the same.

GloDome Circus

Artists: Bean, Martha (Savers)

GloDome is Frostburn's first performance art grant, a grand experiment in PVC domes and a transportable Circus play space! Bean and Savers are baby aerialists who wanna show you ways to have the upside down experience you didn't know your Frostburn could have! Swing by, literally hang out with us on our Lyra and aerial yoga hammock! Catch us in our UV lit glowy glory as we show some aerial flow we've been excited to learn and share with you! *Note, using any apparatus while intoxicated is a serious danger to yourself and others. You assume the risk of bodily injury. The hammock and Lyra will not be rigged at all times during the burn.

Mauvais Jour de Lièvre (Dirty Day of Hare) Aka. Bad Hare Day

Artists: Bunny, Amber “Charm” Hall

Mauvais jour de lièvre—Have you ever had a "bad hare day"?

Please Sign the Waver

Artist: Saint

Please Sign the Waver! How often are we asked to do that? Not that much; it's usually a demand to sign the Waiver. Here at Frostburn, you can do both! While you wait to go through ticketing, and prepare to read and sign that legal document, you can have a much more satisfying encounter with The Waver, there to smile, impart blessings and good fortune, and possibly give you a high five. Of course, you can also sign The Waver, as long as you also remember to sign the Waiver.

We've all been there, you have more buddies than hands, and they're all thirsty and you're the closest one to the fridge. You use your skills and problem solving to try to make one trip, because god forbid, you have to make the walk of shame back to the fridge. If you think you are exceptionally talented at dominating this scenario, bring your beer carrying ass down to P5 and PROVE IT. Contestants will have 60 seconds to pick up as many beers as they possible can. They must hold them off of the ground for a count of 10 seconds for it to be official. Falling beers will not start the count over, they will just not count towards their score. Whatever you have at the end of 10 seconds off of the ground will be your score. Props and clothing are not allowed to be utilized and will be cause for immediate disqualification and banishment from the camp. Do you have what it takes to carry the most beers and take home this year's trophy???

The pond near the greeter's station

Long a part of Frostburn lore, the Polar Plunge will live on again this year. Just because this is listed as an event in the What Where When is not an indication that it's a good idea. ### Tape Measure Trial

3:00 PM - 4:30 PM

Priority 5

Tape measures are super fun to extend and even more fun for it to slowly creep, as you extend it, towards your sibling on the couch until it is right in their face and/or taps them. But eventually, as you extend, the tape SNAPS with a crash that cannot be confused with any other sound. Take those tape talents to the trial and totally prove that you're the top tot. The contestant who extends the tape the furthest without breaking will be this years champion!

3:30 PM - 4:15 PM with Q/A

Consortium

The discussion is centered around how to provide mental health support for those who struggle with suicide, those who are in need of crisis intervention, and a sprinkle of everything else. We will focus on what questions to ask and what to do. Note this isn't a space to explore or re-open traumas, but space to collaborate and discuss methods that work to put us on the right path.
